
Cessna 208 endorsment.

Posted by wiz_310 - 2006/10/23 10:57

I have been trying to obtain a Cessna 208 endorsment for about three weeks now and am finding it almost impossible. anyone have any idea where I can do this?. I'm in western Australia, but will travel. Its like trying to adopt a child..... very difficult.
Cheers, Wiz.

=====

Re:Cessna 208 endorsment.

Posted by dharakos - 2006/10/23 14:34

Not for Madona!:woohoo:

You may well have tried this but if you start at the CASA aircraft register looking at 208's (http://www.casa.gov.au/casadata/regsearch/airsresults.asp?VHIn=&modelin=208&Search=Search&framein=all&manuin=®holdin=®opin=&serialin=&num_results=10&offset=0) then contact each of the operators and pop the question?

Hope that helps

=====

Re:Cessna 208 endorsment.

Posted by wiz_310 - 2006/10/29 18:29

Seems even Madonna is having trouble now. ;) Yeah, I tried that, but most of the vans are registered to companies that are different to the AOC that its being operated on. also, most of the people I have contacted have said they wouldn't do training on the aircraft, as well as them not having access to an authorised person (CAR 5.20.1) to conduct the training. just as hard now as it was two weeks ago. :blink:

=====

Re:Cessna 208 endorsment.

Posted by pxh01 - 2006/11/02 10:23

Hi
You could try Tooradin flying school 03 5998 3711 or www.tooradinflyingchool.com.au
PXH

=====

Re:Cessna 208 endorsment.

Posted by wiz_310 - 2006/11/08 10:45

Thanks guys. I managed to get it done in Perth. B)
What a great ship. :woohoo:

Post edited by: wiz_310, at: 2006/11/08 10:46

=====